Description

" Part of a series that explores my personal relationship with domestic interiors from pop culture of my childhood. The painting depicts Clarissa's 'own' room and the layers of objects, band posters, nail varnish, teddy bears and car memorabilia collected and displayed to communicate a teenagers personality and true self. Using garish colours the painting reflects my memories as a young child watching the tv show 'Clarissa Explains It All' and wishing that I too could have a room of my own."
